RFBerlin Workshop on the Economics of Aging

Challenges for the Labor Market and Long-Term Care

Call for Papers

The ROCKWOOL Foundation Berlin – Institute for the Economy and the Future of Work (RFBerlin) is organizing a workshop on the economics of aging.

We welcome submissions of innovative papers from scholars with an interest in the economic implications of population aging. Topics may include the effects of population aging on labor supply, productivity, retirement patterns, pension systems, long-term care needs, and demographic trends shaping economic changes and inequality.
